What's new in ergonomics – here and overseas

Book Now

What: What's new in ergonomics – here and overseas

Who: David Caple AM, David Caple & Associates

Details: Our popular annual speaker David Caple, fresh back from the International Ergonomics Association Congress in Korea, will give an update to CSG on 10 September on emerging issues in ergonomics, followed by some interesting local case studies.

The first case study is about the risk of heavy paint cans to store staff and customers. This has resulted in changes to the industry, but there are further findings from an industry review related to lighter weight cans.

This will be followed by case studies related to reviews and solutions for occupational violence for frontline staff in public spaces.

David will also discuss a new publication he launched at the Congress, a resource for business leaders Giving your business the human factors edge... Making it Happen! David is a co-author alongside Karen Lange-Morales (Colombia) and Andrew S. Imada (USA).
